

Important Notice.

- Any licence issued in respect of this application is strictly and solely in respect of the drawings and specifications listed overleaf. Any proposed deviations from these documents must be notified to us for consideration. It remains your responsibility to inform us of changes. The Association has no responsibility for monitoring your continued compliance.
- Any unauthorised changes which are inconsistent with the development criteria found in our Guidance Notes will automatically invalidate the licence and there will be no consent under the covenants in respect of the development that has been carried out, which means that any resulting loss will be of your own making.
